“Why” Matters

A common description of Singaporeans is that we are a very pragmatic and task-oriented people, concerned more about outcomes than about reasons. After all, all the good intentions in the world will not feed you. And what does it matter why your boss wants something done? You're not being paid to understand but to do! But when we do things without understanding why we're doing it, we attribute wrong reasons, we lose sight of the big picture, and eventually, possibly, we go down the wrong path entirely. That's why it's imperative for us to understand the why in our Christian discipleship.

Take Christian spiritual disciplines, for example. Why do we practice these? Why do we tell each other to spend time reading the Bible, perhaps even memorise portions of it? There are a number of possible answers here. Here's an example of a reason that sounds correct but is problematic: we need to know the Bible well because Jesus knew the Bible well and memorised it to answer the devil in Luke 4:1-13 and so we should do what Jesus did. And here's what's wrong with it: Jesus did a lot of other things also, including enacting miracles, flipping tables, and dying on the cross – are these all things we should also do? Another correct-sounding reason: we need to know the Bible well because this is something all Christians do so if you don't then you aren't a Christian. And here's what's wrong with it: is our salvation is based on the things we do? Yet Paul calls these hollow and deceptive philosophy in Col 2:8.

So why we do things matters. ORPC's vision is “to know God and to make Him known” – this is taken from Matt 28:18-20, the Great Commission. This is the heart of why we are emphasising on discipleship and disciple-making – because God commanded us to do so, to make disciples of all nations, baptising them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything Jesus has commanded us to. May we hold true to this reason and be directed by it.

Responding to Jesus' Call

Luke 5:1-11

Introduction: What does it mean to know and to follow Jesus?

1. Take Jesus at his word

2. View self in the light of God

3. Set priority to serve God

Conclusion

Bible Readings & Prayer Points

Monday

Read Luke 5:12. What did the leper do when he approached Jesus?

Pray that God will train and guide the leaders of ORPC's Discipleship Groups to be shepherds after His heart. May they lead their group with wisdom and dedication.

Tuesday

Read Luke 5:13. In the Old Testament Law a leper was mandated to stay isolated in quarantine and outside the city (Lev. 13:45-46). What do you think that leper might have heard about Jesus that made him risk everything to get to Jesus?

Pray for the flooding in Malaysia, Indonesia and New Zealand that it will subside and affected communities will not suffer unduly.

Wednesday

Read Luke 5:12-16. Leprosy is often seen as a metaphor for the problem of sin. In what ways are the two similar?

Pray for the Sunday School team, as it works on improving the facilities for the children's learning.

Thursday

Read Luke 5:17-20. Something was going on when Jesus healed the paralytic. Beyond just the words that Jesus spoke, what was He claiming here?

Pray for God's wisdom and guidance to be on the M&E committee members as they meet tonight.

Friday

Read Luke 5:21-26. By healing the paralytic spiritually before actually healing him physically, Jesus was placing priority on spiritual healing. Why do we want God to fix our lives more than we want Him to deal with our sin?

Pray for our brothers and sisters who are ill or grieving that God will continue to comfort and strengthen them.

Saturday

Read Luke 5:27-31. Why was the act of Jesus sharing a meal at Levi's house so scandalous that the Pharisees felt the need to complain?

Pray for the preparation of our hearts and minds for tomorrow's Worship Service. As we worship God, may His Word illuminate, encourage and strengthen us.

THE GOSPEL

IMPORTANCE

The Gospel in the Creation Account and the Fall of Humankind

The gospel in the larger context of the biblical narrative begins with the claim that God is the Creator of the heavens and the earth. Although Christians cannot prove the existence of God, there are many cogent reasons why creationism is still the most valid worldview.

This lesson will introduce a few of the standard arguments—philosophical, moral, and historical—for the existence of a Creator God. If you want to learn how to answer objections and defend the truth of the Christian faith, this lesson is for you.

I now feel more equipped to do God's Great Commission and my confidence has increased. Most of all, the on-the-job practical application is very helpful in preparing me towards spiritual multiplication”
