Shared Sacred Space

During our previous Saturday's Church Retreat, I was heartened to see representatives of our younger and older generations come together on a panel to give their views on Christian discipleship in our church. While we all honestly acknowledged that much more can be done in ORPC for intergenerational ministry, we must also understand that the generation divide is not as wide as many think it to be.

In a TODAY article written in partnership with the National Youth Council published on 28 May 2022 (The Big Read: Generational gap—a bridge too far or are we making too much of it?), Dr Mathew Mathews, a principal research fellow at the Institute of Policy Studies (IPS) pointed out that “the difference between generations is certainly real but there are many areas where aspirations are similar.” He further elaborated that results from the World Values Survey conducted by the IPS in 2021 inform Singaporeans that the difference in opinion between generations here is actually “fairly small”. Moreover, majority of the younger and older generations see value in the other, especially in “bringing fresh perspectives—the older generation with their life experiences, and the younger generation with their creativity.”

Christian scholars David Setran and Chris Kiesling would agree. In Spiritual Formation in Emerging Adulthood: A Practical Theology for College and Young Adult Ministry, they write, “The vitality and idealism of the younger generation is detached from the wisdom and experience of the older generation, a separation that hurts both groups and blunts the power of the united church body for personal and cultural influence. ... To avoid this trap, individuals on both sides of the generation gap must commit to the hard work of true fellowship.”

The right way forward for any church community is for its young people (as well as its adults) to be taken deep into the shared space and centre of the church where we accept and love one another as distinct but equal members joined in one body, and where Christ is present in our midst. Ministry to the younger generation is not about strategies to produce “Christian youth” who commit their allegiance to the denomination and stay loyal to it. Instead, it seeks to invite young people into the shared space where the cruciform pattern of the Gospel is concretely lived out by the body of Christ. In this shared space of church, young and old encounter the living Christ. Let us come together in true fellowship to enjoy our sacred space.

Bible Readings & Prayer Points

Monday

Read Genesis 11:10-26. Compare this genealogy with the one found in Genesis 5:1-32. What similarities and differences do you find?

Pray for those who return to a regular school schedule today. Pray that in the midst of a highly charged semester, they will have Christ at the centre of their lives, and will point others to Christ.

Tuesday

Read Genesis 11:27-32. Who are the members of Abram's family? Which of these family members appear again later in the narrative?

Pray for God to grant us each courage to reach out to one other member of the congregation for regular Bible reading and mutual encouragement in our Christian discipleship.

Wednesday

Read Genesis 12:1-5. What did God tell Abram to do, and what was His promise to Abram? Do you think it was worth it for Abram?

Pray for God to give the leaders of our church strength, encouragement, and hope as they seek to discern God's will for the church and to obey humbly.

Thursday

Read Genesis 12:6-9. Why was God's appearance to Abram at Moreh an assurance to him?

Pray for protection and strength for those who are working in dengue prevention, and for those who are helping dengue and COVID-19 patients to recover.

Friday

Read Genesis 12:10-16. What fear drove Abram to tell the Egyptians that Sarai is only his sister? What does this fear look like in our lives today?

Pray for those affected by lockdowns in China to remain optimistic, and for their needs to be met while in lockdown.

Saturday

Read Genesis 12:17-20. What happened to Pharaoh as a result of Abram's omission of truth?

Pray for Ukraine as the war there continues. Pray for peace, and for the ability to rebuild.

10 July 2022 | 2 pm to 3.15 pm

Conducted by Rev Clive Chin

The Bible from beginning to end portrays God as the sovereign Lord over all things. He reigns as both creator and sustainer of all that exists, especially over human affairs.

Unfortunately, Adam and Eve rebelled against God's authority as king with severe consequences for the history of humanity. From this catastrophic beginning in Gen 3, the Bible reveals how God gradually re-establishes his rule over the whole earth by redeeming humanity and his creation.

When Jesus arrived, he inaugurated a spiritual kingdom (Mk 1:15), yet he taught us to pray for a time (Matt 6:10), when he will return in glory as universal king to restore his kingdom on earth (Rev 20-22). It is, therefore, very important for Christians to understand God's plan of salvation and see how we can be part of the grand narrative of God's kingdom rule on earth.
